Hill's Resort Priest Lake, Idaho

Hill's Lodge as seen from the majestic Priest Lake.

Snowmobiling. For some us, its the central aspect of all our activities. And when you find yourself deeply involved in a sport with as much expliability as this one, you'll find that the excitement never stops, with new trails to ride, new areas to ride in and new mountain ranges, glacial lakes and trail systems to tackle head first. If you haven't tried it yet, the Selkirk Mountains and Priest Lake offer some of the most stunning snowmobiling territory in the Northwest that definitely warrants a visit.

While there are a few resorts in the Priest Lake area, one that we found to be top notch is Hill's Resort. Since 1946, Hill's Resort has been providing unique quality retreats, business seminars and family vacations. Hill's Resort and restaurant have been recognized nationally for their excellence. In 1991, Family Circle Magazine selected Hill's Resort as winner of the "1991 Family Resort of the Year" in the Cabin/Resort category. This was a special honor for Hill's as these awards are chosen by the readers, resort guests. The resort has also received national recognition for many of it's recipes, including their Huckleberry pies, Morel mushroom dishes, and Barbecued baby back ribs.. Hills has been featured in Better Homes & Gardens, Pacific Northwest Magazine and Parents Magazine.

Hill's Resort and

Priest Lake offer recreational opportunities for all seasons. The Lake is the center of activity in the summer. Swimming, kayaking, boating, skiing and fishing can all be found on Priest Lake's pristine waters. The resort features tennis, pickleball and volleyball courts as well as trails for hiking, jogging and mountain biking. The Priest Lake Golf Course is only a few minutes away and huckleberry and mushroom picking are right out your door.

The Selkirk Mountain are the center of activity in the winter. As far as snowmobiling goes, there's hundreds of miles of groomed trails available right out your door, with groomed trails encircling the resort and Priest Lake. Following are just some of the miscellaneous services offered at Hill's Resort: gourmet restaurant, private dining room, cocktail lounge, oyster bar, espresso/juice bar, live music (seasonal), meeting rooms, video game room (seasonal), laundry (seasonal), gasoline, tennis courts, pickleball court, volleyball court, massage therapy, cross country ski trails, snow shoe trails, jogging trails, nearby golf course and of course, hundreds of miles of groomed snowmobile trails.

The Selkirk Mountains and Priest Lake just have to be snowmobiled to understand the wondrous winter wonderland that Priest Lake is. Plus, the Selkirks generally get some of the first snow in the Northwest and snowmobiling in May isn't altogether a rare occurrence.

Lodging is offered year-round with individual cabins, condominiums, chalets and duplex units to choose from. The lodging offered at Hill's Resort brings the term rustic elegance to mind. The units range in size from one to five bedrooms and feature fully equipped kitchens. Most units have fireplaces and lake views.

Second, third and even some fourth generation guests return to Hill's with their families each year in order to continue the tradition of a family vacation. Whether fall, winter, spring or summer, Hill's Resort and Priest Lake have something to offer you. The Hill Family - Lois, Teri, Scott, Craig, Missy, Whitney & Jake - welcome you to experience snowmobiling in their neck of the woods and while you're at it, have a stay at Hill's Resort - You won't be disappointed.
